Big Fat Dumb Pipes that easily handles over 100GB/month per user

(Hong Kong, 17 February, 2012) At Hong Kong Broadband Network, a wholly owned subsidiary of City Telecom (HK) Limited (HKEX: 1137, NASDAQ: CTEL), we are proud to be a Big Fat Dumb Pipe provider, easily handling average bandwidth consumption of over 100GB/month per user across our 600,000 plus FTTH/B customer base. For reference, 100GB is enough data to overflow the memory of 6 brand new Apple 16GB 4S iPhones every month and compares with the 5GB/month “fair usage” cap whereby mobile carriers in Hong Kong typically start to limit throughput in their unlimited data plans.

“At HKBN, we embrace Over-The-Top (OTT) content providers who help fill up our excessively Big Fat Dumb Pipes. We happily co-exist with OTT providers, as together we create value for our customers. Our superior bandwidth capability is the LUCA (Legal Unfair Competitive Advantage) that drives our industry leading 17.5% return on equity¹,” Said Mr. Lo Sui Lun, Chief Technology Officer of HKBN.

Note 1: For 12 months to 31 Aug 2011.
