HKBN Appoints Draftfcb Ahead of Major Rebranding

(Hong Kong, 11 April 2012) Hong Kong Broadband Network Limited (“HKBN”, a wholly-owned subsidiary of City Telecom (HK) Limited, HKEX: 1137, NASDAQ: CTEL) has officially appointed Draftfcb for its major rebranding campaign following a competitive pitch against three other agencies. Draftfcb will initially focus on communications strategy and creative works for the rebranding of HKBN’s Mega Theatre on Demand packages in 2012 and help the company achieve ambitious business goals—be the largest IP provider in Hong Kong by 2016

Bringing benefits and excitement for the public are always the core purpose of HKBN. We are always looking for surprising the public, not only our service, but also our new rebranding campaign. The review of several agencies and the competitive pitches was led by Mrs. Selina Chong, Chief Marketing Officer of HKBN.

“Our pitch process was designed to highlight which agency possessed the creativity, speed and integration of communications to drive excitement about HKBN among consumers,” said Mrs. Chong. “Draftfcb demonstrated clear strategy, creative ideas and execution capabilities across multiple media channels and was a clear winner.”

Iris Lo, Managing Director and Executive Creative Director of Draftfcb said, “Our ideas for accelerating interest and adoption of the movie packages recognise that HKBN’s customers are across most demographics. We have designed communications for wide consumer appeal, but with specific product-related messaging that highlights the choice and quality of the packages as they become available.” She added, “We are delighted to win these assignments, as Hong Kong Broadband Network is an exciting brand that demands the highest quality strategies and creative work. We are looking forward to working with their marketing team.
